ABOUT ROB

Rob has always been a hard worker. He believes in being rewarded for what you do, not who you know. He began his career with Waste Management in 2000 as a Project Manager in the automotive industry. He looked for opportunities within WM to advance, and after several years, he leapt at the opportunity to work from home as part of a new group starting at WM. His current manager took over his group after approximately 1.5 years, and they immediately bonded. She became his mentor and groomed him to take her position, which he did in 2010. His focus is always pinpointed on educating himself about Waste Management's business processes and customers so that he can serve his company, his team, and his customers better.
