ABOUT HERNANDO

Hernando is a transformational leader who started his career as an engineer working in networking, servers, and software development. He earned several industry certifications such as MCSE, ITIL, CCNA, and CISSP. He later transitioned to IT leadership and he pursued his MBA from the University of Miami. More recently, he became the Head of Corporate IT at ChenMed, a fast growing healthcare provider in south Florida. He has a proven track record of not only executing on his strategic plan, but also seeking out opportunities to enable the business to better respond to the needs of their customers.
