ABOUT JIM

As Director of Production Development, Jim Moore has proven himself to be highly skilled in software development, production support, and consulting.

As a leader, Jim's greatest strength is managing complex cross-functional SDLC programs consisting of technically-diverse teams located around the world. He has an excellent track record for bringing teams together to accomplish great things. Jim is known as a strong and decisive leader providing clear direction, technical guidance, and business knowledge to achieve delivery and financial objectives.

Jim has extensive experience building, tuning, and managing nimble and efficient organizations and processes to meet the needs of dynamic businesses and their clients. Jim is also extremely skilled in implementing and managing change in high-pressure environments.

WHAT OTHERS HAVE TO SAY

"Jim's ability to collaborate with our client and address issues timely and professionally were key to many of the various successes."

"I've personally learned a lot from his style of management. I found him to be a result-oriented manager who was also compassionate about his team members."

"Jim has been a great motivation to me personally and to the team. His managerial and leadership skills have not only inspired us to do our best, it also made us strive for the impossible and make it happen."

"Jim would regularly discuss his vision and ideas with us and seek our feedback on them, making it an inclusive and open process."

PERSONAL SLOGAN: "IT'S ALL ABOUT WHAT WE CAN DO."
