ABOUT LOUIS

Louis Favoretto has over sixteen years of diversified functional and technical experience in product development, program management, application development, account management, and marketing roles. Currently, Louis serve as Director of R&D at QTS where he is responsible for building and managing a Product Development, Business Intelligence, Process Management, and Project Management Office (PMO).

Louis is a passionate leader with proven experience building and developing highly motivated product and project management teams focused on increasing revenue, improving profits, and maximizing customer satisfaction. With QTS, one of Louis's largest responsibilities is working with the CTO, Property, and Architecture engineering teams on research and development of strategic and operational growth opportunities by developing sound business plans which enhance and expand the QTS product portfolio.

A strategic thinker, Louis's greatest strength is his ability to innovate, analyze, adjust, and implement customer focused solutions improving efficiency, productivity, and profitability. He has been described as analytical with the ability to tolerate ambiguity and demonstrate problem-solving leadership with limited oversight. He has the unique ability to effectively influence and communicate cross-functionally with all levels of the organization.

Louis holds a M.S. in Management with a Specialization in Project Management from Boston University.

WHAT OTHERS HAVE TO SAY

"Louis is a disciplined project management professional that is committed to his craft. Through continuing education and diverse project experiences, he has strengthened his project management skills and prepared himself for even greater challenges. Oftentimes, he would provide workshops for colleagues interested in the project management profession and he was readily available to provide guidance on other projects." -Mark W.
