WHAT OTHERS HAVE TO SAY

"For two years I reported directly to Wesley as the Director of a PMO in one of Turner's technical organizations. During this time we went through a lot of change, but Wes' leadership allowed me to ultimately build a PMO that strategically supported the business and delivered positive results. Wes' leadership style is collaborative and supportive with the right amount of stretch assignments to keep one growing and planning for career advancement. Wes believes in fostering a work environment that focuses on delivering results, accountability, and a healthy work/life balance. As a startup organization, our team was able to create a brand that made a positive impact within a short timeframe, and would have matured rather quickly given different circumstances. I always find at least one takeaway (if not more) from every manager I have worked for, and with Wes, my greatest lesson is the importance of hiring qualified people with an internal focus of control. Through this lesson he proved that while it may be challenging to find, overall the benefits are rewarding in the long run."
