ABOUT MANNY

With more than 20 years of software development experience, Manny De La Rosa currently serves as a Software Development Manager for ChenMed. In that role, Manny contributes to the Agile adoption and self-organization of several different development teams.

Prior to joining ChenMed, Manny worked for Parallon Workforce Solutions, a division of Hospital Corporation of America (HCA) where he was a Software Architect responsible for the architecture and technical roadmap of several enterprise level applications. Manny played a consultive role for various customers of HCA in order to integrate their products on top of Parallon service offerings.

As a Certified Scrum Professional and an avid Agile enthusiast, Manny is a prominent speaker of Agile and cloud technologies in various technical forums.
