ABOUT NANCY

Nancy Hawker has over 20 years IT Program and Project Management experience, including web/mobile/application/services development, Agile and Waterfall project delivery, release/environment management, infrastructure, supplier integration, and PMO managed infrastructure projects including hardware, operating systems, monitoring, and databases. In her distinguished career she has managed internet projects both at Disney (PhotoPass/PhotoMovie), and as Computer Associates consultant. In her consultant role, she managed a long-term strategic initiative to develop e-commerce platform for a Silicon Valley .com firm. She has experience in both outsourcing and supplier management.

Nancy holds a Master of Science in Engineering Management from the University of Central Florida. Her favorite aspects of leadership include relationship-building with business, creative, and technical teams and coaching individual growth within her team members.
