ABOUT JAMES

James Peterson transforms companies and unlocks potential. His nine years in IT & Project Management have given him a proven track record of supporting his clients' growth and development in difficult climates. From small firms of less than 200 to major corporations of more than 10,000, James has not only excelled at implementing systems on technical level, but also at managing complex projects and programs while maintaining stakeholder satisfaction and delivering value. Additionally, James is an advocate for the project management profession where he serves as an instructor for PMP, Agile and ITIL exam boot camps. To date, he has successfully assisted over 300 students in passing their exams on their first attempt.
